What’s it good for?

ProQuest Online Newspapers provides full text access to the online editions of: The Guardian; The Independent; The Observer; Sunday Times (London); The Times (London); and the Wall Street Journal.

Access

ProQuest is available on and off campus, through the Databases list on the Library Blackboard and Intranet sites. Certain articles from these newspapers are searchable using RULDiscovery www.regents.ac.uk/RULDiscovery, however, you will need to use the database for complete access. Log in using your RUL username and password.

Search

1. From the ProQuest News homepage, click Advanced Search.

2. Enter your keywords into the search boxes. Select appropriate fields where necessary.
3. You can narrow your search by applying limiters in the Search Options, for example, newspaper title; date; person; location; or company.
4. Click Search.
5. On the results page, to find out more about the document, click on Citation/Abstract to access the abstract (article overview).

6. Click Full Text to access the document.

7. You can then print or download the article using the options on the menu bar.

8. If you have too many results, use the ‘Narrow results by’ options in the right hand column to refine your search, or add another keyword.

Searching individual publications

ProQuest also allows you to search inside individual publications. From the ProQuest Online News homepage, select a newspaper from the ‘Search Databases’ list. You can then enter your keywords into the search box and click the Search icon. It is also possible to use the ‘Advanced search’ function to search individual publications.
